Special Notice

Adventure activities are participatory in nature and are physically demanding. Please consider this in respect to the physical condition of your group before making reservations. Please note that there are some weight restrictions regarding the wearing of some of our equipment. Please contact our office for additional clarification. Individuals with health concerns should consult with a physician about participating in adventure recreation activities. All guests are required to be present at all safety talks prior to adventure activities.

There are certain risks and dangers inherent to adventure recreation. Alpine Ministries does not assume responsibility for personal injuries or damage / loss to personal property. All participants must submit a completed Release and Assumption of Risk Form before doing any activities. Minors must have permission from a parent or court-approved legal guardian signed on our Release and Assumption of Risk Form. All release forms must be submitted at check-in.

All activities are based on availability. Large groups will be divided into smaller sub-groups. Because some activities have number restrictions, only small numbers may do a particular activity in one day. Gym times and swim times may be scheduled with other groups.
